YOUR ADVENTURE AWAITS, START BUILDING.

Twenty-five years ago I came to the Yukon and fell in love with this place: the mountains, the culture, the history ... One of my favourite fall events, Theatre in the Bush, captures the outdoor-random-creativity of the Yukon. Audiences walk through the forest while being immersed in art installations and original performances. From colourful Yukoners to crafty ravens, from the midnight summer sun to wintry northern lights, Yukon experiences are one of a kind. This place takes your breath away.

John Streicker, Minister of Tourism and Culture

WALK WITH US

Respectful Travel Guidelines

The Yukon is home to 14 distinct First Nations and 8 language groups. Our land is beautiful and our water is clean. Our land is everything. We are the stewards of this land and we all have a responsibility to care for this land for future generations. We honour our ancestors who shared their teachings with us so that we can now share them with you. We care for this land — the plants, water, air and animals — by showing it respect and treating it as an equal. As you travel through our beautiful homelands, we invite you to Nát'sin t'ra "hold everything up in respect" Northern Tutchone

When travelling in our homelands, come visit us in our communities

Our culture is rich and powerful — we are proud to share it with visitors who want to listen and learn in a respectful way. When you're in our communities, please visit our cultural centres, celebrate with us during our festivals, buy our art and crafts, listen to our stories, or go on a tour with a local First Nations guide. This helps support the well-being of our communities.

We care for our land – we expect everybody to share this responsibility

For over 10,000 years, these lands have sustained Yukon First Nations people. We continue to survive on this land through our beliefs, our respect, our honour towards all living things. We must always care for the land so that the land can care for us.

This land is our home – when visiting somebody's home we follow respectful behaviours

These are our homelands. When visitors come to the Yukon they will be visiting our home — a place that we love, rely on and feel connected to. It is important to understand the customs of the place you are travelling to. Before you visit our communities, do your best to learn about our people and our cultures. This shows respect for Yukon First Nations people.

Keep the land and water clean

Water is the best medicine in the world. Without water we cannot live. Keeping the land and water clean is essential for keeping our animals, people and environment healthy. Keep a clean camp. Please pack out what you pack in — don't throw garbage on the land or in the water. We must be diligent about caring for our environment for future generations.

Respect the land and the land will respect you

The land is deserving of the highest honour. Be mindful of your behaviour when travelling on the land. Give thanks to the land and the animals. Keep your mind clear and have good thoughts when you are out on the land. Don't make fun of animals or talk badly about them — they can hear you. The land, water, animals — everything has a spirit. We are all equal as guests on this land — once we respect that everything will be good.

Be thankful for the land and all that it offers

Our people rely on the land and all that it offers. The land is our grocery store, our pharmacy and our clothing store. We give thanks when we gather from the land. We take only what we need, we use all that we take, and we share what we have. You have to be careful — if you disturb the land, it's not going to come back again.

Learn the history of this land — it is rich with our stories

The history of this land is much older than the Gold Rush. Our language and stories are deeply intertwined with this land. It is important that visitors hear these stories. It is important that they hear these stories from us — the people who are deeply connected to this land. When given the opportunity, please listen and show respect to the Elders and First Nations people sharing their stories and knowledge.

Respect our sacred places and teachings

Respect is the highest honour we can give. Our teachings define our responsibilities to ourselves, to the land, and to our communities. Our teachings come from our ancestors who came before us. It is our obligation to pass on these teachings, but please understand not all of these teachings are for us to share. Some teachings should only be shared by Yukon First Nations peoples. We also have sacred places that are not meant for visiting. Please do not visit our spirit houses, graveyards or other sacred sites.

Respect and honour our culture – understand that our culture is not for sale

Our culture is strong, based on knowledge handed down for more than 10,000 years. Our culture is our stories. Each community has its own stories, songs, ceremonies, and ways of doing things. We welcome you to watch and listen with respect, but visitors must understand that our culture is not for sale. Please do not copy our designs, songs or dances. They belong to our family members, clans and communities. We have been working hard to reclaim our cultures and languages for many years. We ask that you support this reclamation and revitalization.

Respect our ancestral knowledge, customs, and livelihoods

Our people continue to practice subsistence lifestyles in today's modern world. As hunters, trappers, and other land users, we are mindful of our harvesting practices and understand that animals provide sustenance for survival. We ask that visitors to Yukon First Nations lands not interrupt or interfere with our right to subsistence activities on our traditional territories.

We asked Yukon favourite Diyet (and the Love Soldiers) what connects people to her music.

Diyet: All my songs are based on the landscape I live in. That leads to musical themes of community, environment and connection. Those messages are universal.

Us: Who's on your local playlist?

Diyet: Oh my goodness.
Dena Zagi, Bria Rose,
Vision Quest, Warren Strand,
Ryan McNally, Ellorie McKnight
... I can go on and on!

Check out a live show of Diyet and the Love Soldiers.

Yukoners have always known that our homegrown flavours are as memorable as our wildlife and terrain. Now the world has figured it out, too. Local dishes are the hot ticket for a growing stream of culinary travellers. Look for these signature tastes at our many restaurants and markets.

SMOKED SALMON Try this king of fishing treasures expertly smoked. To taste true magic, drizzle with warmed, locally made birch syrup.

We asked Katie Young, founder of Yukon's favourite snack, Klondike Kettle Corn, what makes her popcorn so popular.

Katie: There are 50 flavours! Dark Chocolate, Sweet & Salty, Dill Pickle, Pumpkin Spice – there's something for everyone. But we're also a community– centred business. Our success means we can give back. That's as important to us.

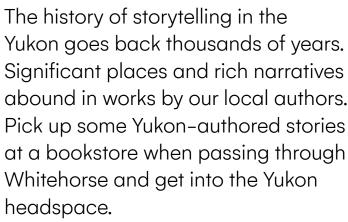

Us: Which 3 flavours are you taking to a deserted island?

Katie: Truffle Oil & Black Pepper, Buffalo Cheese ... and Salted Caramel!

We asked Yukoner John Firth about the popularity of his book The Caribou Hotel. Navigating the fine line between history and local lore, this frank and funny story brings one of Canada's most famous haunted hotels to life.

Us: Why do you think The Caribou Hotel resonates with people?

John: There's the interesting history of the hotel, and then there's the haunting aspect of murder on the premises as well!

Also, Carcross and the Southern Lakes haven't been written about much. The Caribou Hotel fills in some of the gaps in Yukon history.

Want to give your eyes a rest? Tune in to the North of Ordinary podcast for an aural taste of the Yukon.

You can spend days simply driving through the Yukon, agog at the majesty of nature. But we recommend you stop often and get your hands in the dirt (or snow, or water, as the case may be). That's where the real Yukon experience happens.

PADDLE Experience nature at its most epic and intimate on Yukon's pristine rivers.

SOAR Take in the grandeur and scale of the Yukon from the air.

There are a thousand experiences to choose from. Start your search here.

We asked Teri-Lee Isaac, Citizen of the Selkirk First Nation and owner/operator of Tutchone Tours, what authentic memory visitors can expect to take away from her riverboat tours to historic Fort Selkirk.

Teri-Lee: Our tours bring people closer to our history. Did you know that Fort Selkirk was designated to be the Yukon's capital before Whitehorse? There's so much history to tell!

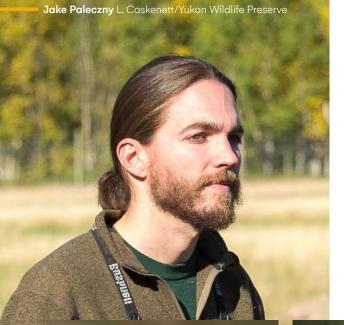

The tours also bring me – your guide – home, and that's a joy I can share. It doesn't get more authentic than that.

We asked Yukon Wildlife Preserve Executive Director Jake Paleczny for his tips on seeing Yukon animals in the wild.

Us: What's the best time to spot Yukon wildlife in their natural habitat?

Jake: I'd say the transition times between night and day, when many animals are more active. But the best trick is to just spend lots of time outside.

Want a guaranteed sighting? Visit the Yukon Wildlife Preserve to get up close and personal with a variety of Yukon species.

Each of the 14 First Nations of the Yukon has a story as old as time. Pause in your journey. Ask questions. Share in our stories, lessons and laughter.

Celebrate with a festival

Join us at one of our many gatherings or festivals, including Moosehide Gathering downriver from Dawson City, Haa Kusteeyí Celebration in Teslin or Carcross, the Da Kų Nän Ts'étthèt Dance Festival in Haines Junction, the Mayo Arts Festival, the Blue Feather Music Festival in Whitehorse or the Adäka Cultural Festival in Whitehorse featuring workshops, performances and cultural presentations.

Experience the culture

First Nations cultural centres throughout the territory showcase our diverse heritage. For a more immersive experience, enjoy a fully guided interpretive tour through a re-created village at Long Ago Peoples Place. Experience an Indigenous family home and traditions in a wilderness camp setting at Shakat Tun Adventures. Or take a riverboating tour to historic Fort Selkirk with Tutchone Tours.

Find a keepsake

Bring home a piece of First Nations art. In each Yukon community, local artists display and sell their work at museums, galleries and First Nations cultural centres. You can also purchase from many private retailers, including Bear Paw Music and Gifts with locations in Whitehorse and Carcross, Northern Cultural Expressions Gallery, North End Gallery, Arts Underground and the Indian Craft Shop – all in Whitehorse. For an online–only retail experience, try Unorthodox.

Eight extraordinary regions Discover Yukon In the Yukon, we walk to a different beat. You will too. Every region invites you to wander, let go and discover new experiences as individual as you. As you travel, remember to respect the land, culture and values of the First Nations who have called this place home for millennia. Learn about the new Walk With Us - Respectful Travel Guidelines.

Liara

Follow the signs and see where they take you

Adventure

In the southern corner where the river rules, the Liard First Nation holds a deep connection to the land.

Check in with local outfitters for an authentic Yukon hunting experience, or stay at an exclusive fishing lodge launching from the Watson Lake area. If it's remote adventure you're after, just ask. Liard will deliver.

Gaze

Prepare to see the night sky in a whole new light. The Yukon is world-renowned for aurora adventures, and early fall to spring is your best shot at seeing the real thing. But when the Yukon skies swap northern lights for midnight sun, the Northern Lights Space and Science Centre is the next best thing.

Listen

Enjoy a siesta to the soothing soundtrack of rushing waters. At Rancheria Falls, follow a short boardwalk lined with interpretive signs to the waterfalls. Or picnic by the clear, bubbling waters of Morley River, with good fishing and a walking trail to the water.

Tour

Spend some time in Watson Lake. Stop by Wye Lake to birdwatch, relax in the park (there's a playground for the kids), and walk the 2.5-km boardwalk loop. Pick up local art and homegrown treats at the Farmers Market each Saturday.

Just outside of town, visit

Lucky Lake for a swim and a slide on one of the only outdoor waterslides north of 60. Then hike the forest trail down to the fastflowing river for a view of the Liard River Canyon.

Soar

Fly back in time to the Watson Lake Airport, where the original BC-Yukon Air Service hangar still stands, the last of its kind in Canada.

Right next door is the log-sided Watson Lake Air Terminal Building, built in 1942 as a refueling station for US military. You can almost picture war planes parked on the runway outside.

Southern Lakes

An endless loop of picturesque exploration

Haa Shagóon Hídi Enviro Foto

Immerse

As you enter Carcross, you'll see seven traditional totem poles looming large before the Haa Shagóon Hídi, one for each of the six clans in the Carcross/Tagish First Nation and one story pole.

Further into town, find the pride and culture of the community on full display in the totem poles and building art throughout the Carcross Commons. Visit the carving shed for an inside look at how master carver Keith Wolfe Smarch and his team create these totems, and the stories from which they come.

Cast

Marsh Lake, 20 minutes south of Whitehorse, is perfect for getting out on the water. Rent a boat and gear from Whitehorse, or hire a guide to take you to where the fish are. From lake trout and Arctic grayling to northern pike and whitefish, they're out there!

On the Atlin Road, smaller lakes offer big rewards. Bring a canoe or small boat and explore the fishfull waters of Little Atlin, Snafu and Tarfu lakes.

Make tracks

The Southern Lakes is home to Montana Mountain, an internationally renowned destination for mountain bikers. Rent a bike in Carcross and choose your trail.

With over 40 kms of singletrack, there's something for every ability. Warm up with Grouse, ride the plateau of Wayne's World, or go the distance with Mountain Hero. If the wild, rugged trails don't take your breath away, the views most definitely will.

Learn

Connect with the Teslin Tlingit people in the picturesque town of Teslin. Start with the George Johnston Museum, named after the venerated Tlingit Elder, trapper, fur trader and entrepreneur. Artifacts and photos open a window to this First Nation's rich past and dynamic present.

Close by is the Teslin Tlingit Heritage Centre where you'll find cultural and historical interpretive displays and beautifully handcrafted masks.

Detour

Take a not-to-be-missed side trip aboard the White Pass & Yukon Route railwayfrom Carcross along the shores of beautiful Lake Bennett to the abandoned townsite of Bennett, BC along the Chilkoot Trail. It's historic, picturesque and a must-do for all rail fans.

For another worthy side jaunt, discover the calming allure of Atlin, BC. Drift out on the stunning waters of Atlin Lake. Take a dip in the warm springs. They call this hidden gem of a town "the little Switzerland of the North", and for good reason.

THE PERFECT DAY IN Carcross

Expect snap-worthy scenery, geological wonders and shopping galore on this one-day ramble through this Southern Lakes gem of a town.

PULL OUT THE CAMERA

A short drive from Carcross, make your first stop the startling colours of Emerald Lake before taking in the world's smallest - and most charming - Carcross Desert.

Emerald Lake YG/R. Hartm

ESPRESSO YOURSELF

Pick up a latte at Caribou Crossing Coffee and shop the treasure–filled boutique huts of the Carcross Commons, while the kids romp nearby at the Game Mother playground.

LOOK INTO THE PAST, SAVOUR THE PRESENT

Stop by the Surly Bird Saloon in the Caribou Hotel, known for its long-standing squatter: the ghost of Mrs. Gideon. Next, pop by Matthew Watson General Store, the oldest operating shop in the Yukon, and a popular ice cream stop for the young at heart.

GET INTO NATURE

Rent a bike and head to Montana Mountain. Or grab a map from the Carcross Visitor Information Centre and take a self-guided walking tour of this historic town. Wrap up the day on the soft white sands of Bennett Beach.

Whitehorse

Fall in love with the Wilderness City

Engage

Whitehorse is located on the Traditional Territory of two First Nations. Witness the revival, preservation and demonstration of the Kwanlin Dün First Nation ways of life at the Kwanlin Dün CulturalCentre. The centre plays host to the annual Adäka Cultural Festival each summer, and offers cultural and historical exhibits year-round

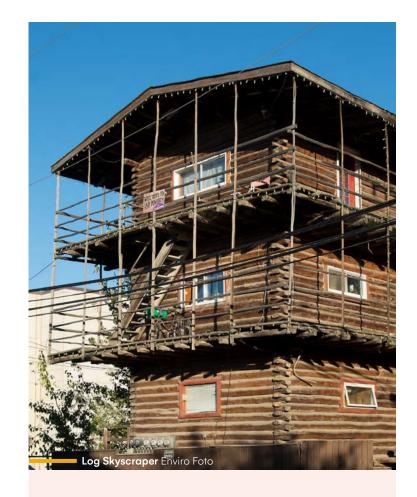

To experience the beating heart of the Ta'an Kwäch'än Council, spend time at the lake from which they take their name, Tàa'an Män / Lake Laberge, 50 km north of Whitehorse.

Wander

Throw on your comfy shoes and take a self-guided Heritage Yukon audio tour of Whitehorse. Be it ghost stories, log skyscrapers or hidden art, this city is full of unexpected discoveries. Pick up a locally roasted cuppa from a neighbourhood café. Then take your lunch outside for some live music at Arts in the Park, held throughout the summer at LePage Park.

Wander the shops until your soles need a break. Then take a seat at the waterfront wharf and watch the Yukon River go by. It's good for the soul.

Hear tell

For a comprehensive view of the colourful characters and groundbreaking events that shaped the Yukon, visit the recently expanded MacBride Museum. It's a hive of activity! Check for live demonstrations, art shows and storytelling year-round.

Take a ride through boreal forest on the beloved "Loki" at the MacBride Copperbelt Mining Museum. Then head to church at the Old Log Church Museum. Built in 1900, you'll hear tales of Yukon's spirited history, including the legendary bishop who ate his boots!

Savour

Whitehorse is edging its way into foodie territory. For a satisfying sit-down, choose from character-filled brew pubs, contemporary fine dining and authentic cultural cuisine.

If you're here in summer, food trucks to please every palate can be spotted at the waterfront wharf, tucked into side streets, and at the popular Rotary Park.

Well Bread Culinary Centre M. Doucette

Time travel

Trek back to a land before time at the Yukon BeringiaInterpretive Centre. Uncover an ice-age world where mammoths and lions roamed the land bridge from Siberia to the Yukon.

Then transport yourself to a slightly more modern age at the Yukon Transportation Museum for moving stories and some really cool planes, trains and automobiles – including a restored DC–3 airplane on a rotating pedestal, the world's largest weather vane.

RISE AND SHINE

Start your winter morning with the warm glow of Lumel Studios and the fiery art of glass blowing. Purchase a colourful creation or transform 1,200°C molten glass into a DIY souvenir like no other.

ART ON TAP

Browse exhibitions at galleries throughout the city. If you prefer your art with some refreshment, find local art on the labels of many Yukon local brews – both the caffeinated and spirited varieties.

SO MUSH FUN

Book a half-day dogsledding tour with a local operator and experience a classic Yukon mode of transportation with man's best friend. The best part? Watching the dogs in their element as they bound through gorgeous winter trails.

THE BIG FREEZE

As the night draws in, get yourself out to the EclipseNordic Hot Springs, where the colder it is, the more magical it gets. If you time your visit right, you can join in the antics of the annual International Hair Freezing Contest.

A legacy left by an ice age

Kick back

If you want to enjoy the scenery without too much effort, load up on picnic supplies at the Village Bakery & Deli and head to the day-use area of Kathleen Lake / Mät'àtäna Män, a lovely Parks Canada campground.

Stroll the Kokanee Trail, a 0.5-km wheelchair-accessible boardwalk skirting the lake shores. A spacious day-use shelter and picnic area afford dramatic views of the surrounding peaks.

Get set

On the edge of one of the planet's most beautifully wild places is Haines Junction, your base camp for exploring Kluane NationalPark and Reserve.

Whether your interest lies in flightseeing, rafting, hiking, backcountry camping, skiing or scenic drives, the friendly staff at the Parks Canada-operated Kluane National Park and Reserve Visitor Centre and the Thechal Dhâl Visitor Centre can help you make the most of your stay. They'll get you set with route maps, adventure tour options and trail conditions to prepare you for exciting days ahead.

Ooh & aah

Pull out the camera at

Destruction Bay to capture the vast expanse of Kluane Lake.

A little further up the road, uncover ancient geo-history at the Kluane Museum of History in Burwash Landing, along with world-class wildlife exhibits.

Admire tools, weapons and clothing from the Southern Tutchone people of the Kluane First Nation, and purchase locally made crafts at the gift shop.

Treasure hunt

The historic Alaska Highway has countless places with a story to tell, and Beaver Creek is no exception. Seek out the wisdom of the White River First Nation and their ageless tradition of respecting the land-an area with archaeological evidence dating back as far as 10,000 years.

For more hidden surprises, stop by the Beaver Creek Visitor Information Centre and ask for directions to the Bordertown Garage and Museum.

Discover a delightful collection of antiques and memorabilia gathered through the Yukon ages.

You don't want to miss it.

Immerse

Spend time at the Da Kų Cultural Centre exploring the vibrant language, culture and traditions of the Champagne and Aishihik First Nations. This innovative house hosts guided tours and campfire talks, and is home to traditional artwork and artifacts.

Learn about dän, dän kéyi, dän ke and Dakwanje, Southern Tutchone for our people, our land, our ways and our language.

The St. Elias Mountains form the highest coastal mountain range on Earth and include the largest non-polar icefields in the world. With more than 2,000 glaciers, some over 100-km long and depths estimated to be 1.6 km, that's billions of tonnes of ice, and a whole lot of big.

BY LAND

Kluane National Park and Reserve is a dream hiking destination. The hardest part is choosing which trail to hike!
Make your first stop a visitor
information centre, the Kluane
National Park and Reserve
Visitor Centre or the Thechal Dhâl Visitor Centre. Staff can help you plan your visit and provide trail recommendations and current conditions.

BY WATER

Prefer to go with the flow?
The legendary Tatshenshini
River flows into the Alsek River on its way toward the Pacific Ocean in Alaska. Together, the Tatshenshini–Alsek has been listed by National Geographic as one of the top river journeys in the world.

BY AIR

Kluane's epic scale can only be truly appreciated from above. View astonishing glaciers, spectacular peaks, and the king of these giants, Mount Logan. Air tours take flight from Haines Junction, Burwash Landing and Whitehorse – your gateways to cloud nine.

Campbell

A true off-the-beaten-path adventure

Marvel

Check out one-of-a-kind pieces by local artist Dennis Shorty of the Kaska First Nation as he welcomes you into his studio in the beautiful area of Ross River. With works in antler, copper, horn, wood and acrylic painting, his artwork can be found in collections around the world.

Book ahead for a one-onone workshop and craft your own unique piece to take home. Or enjoy a multinight homestay for a more immersive experience.

Tee off

Spend a long summer day on the unique and well-manicured nine-hole Faro Golf Course. The green is wide open to take in the rays and perfect your game. Or swing away at the Driving Range "Shack". Advance booking is recommended as the Shack is staffed by volunteers.

If you fancy some competition while on Yukon turf, the annual Faro Golf Tournament is held in July.

Hook

Whose turn is it to catch dinner? Rainbow trout, kokanee salmon and Arctic char are just some of the fish on the menu. To start, try the lively Quiet Lake and subalpine Rose and Lapie lakes. Or choose from over eight campgrounds located on excellent fishing lakes along the Robert Campbell Highway.

Check with the Campbell Region Interpretive Centre in Faro for tips on local fishing holes and how to purchase your fishing licence.

Splash

A popular playground for paddlers is the beautiful Lapie Canyon, near Ross River on the Robert Campbell Highway. Backcountry rivers, like the Pelly, also open up many kayaking and canoeing opportunities. Join a wilderness tour from Faro or Ross River to Pelly Crossing. Or rent a canoe for a few days and go with the flow.

Ramble

For a true trek, venture onto the Dena Cho Trail, a 67-km multi-use recreation trail connecting Faro and Ross River, originally used by the Kaska First Nations. For something less rigorous, walk the popular and winding Van Gorder Falls Trail in Faro, highlighted by a viewing platform overlooking the waterfall. The Faro Arboretum, Canada's most northern botanical park, includes a 1.2-km loop trail.

The Faro area is likewise an exceptional location to see the unusually coloured Fannin sheep, with a herd that gathers in the nearby mountains and cliffsides each fall.

Silver Trail

Discover the other "rush"

Trek

Make the Alpine Interpretive Centre your base camp and explore the many tracks and trails in and around the alpine meadows and rolling hills of Keno City.

If you just have a day, bike or drive up Signpost Road to Keno Hill. Take in vast wild valleys and endless mountain ranges and prepare to see a marmot or pika pop into view more than once. Continue the climb up to Monument Hill to fully appreciate the scale of this wild country, as you hike the plateau with 360° views.

Get aquainted

When making your Yukon memories, always add Mayo. A former silver mining town, this community became the centre point of the "alternative" rush, resting at the confluence of two rivers in a beautiful wilderness setting.

Make your first point of call the BinetHouse Museum for an eclectic display of exhibits, artifacts and a 3-D map of the surrounding landscape. Explore the heritage of the First Nation of Nacho Nyak Dun, who have lived in the area for countless generations and whose Traditional Territory you'll be standing upon.

Uncover

A near modern-day ghost town, home to about 20 residents, Keno City was named for a popular gambling game to lure in prospectors. And a lucky gamble it was. Keno Hill became home to one of the richest silver deposits in the world.

From secret cabins to raucous saloons, every building has a story to tell. While the last silver mine closed down here years ago, you can visit the extensive Keno City Mining Museum for treasured tales tracing the history of the region back to its heyday of the 1920s. Pick up a Keno Walking Tour guidebook and explore this town's eccentric past at your own pace.

Plunge

The gateway to the Peel watershed, the Silver Trail is a natural hub for fly fishing and rafting excursions. Pick up local information at the roadside visitor kiosk at Stewart Crossing. Stretch your legs in Mayo with a stroll on the Prince of Wales Trail along the waterfront.

Then jump into (relatively) warm waters at Five Mile Lake, a popular recreation spot for water play. Or, if a heated outdoor pool is more to your liking, Mayo's got you covered there too.

Spotted!

Can't wait for your first Yukon wildlife spotting? We feel you.

Check out Travel Yukon's Spotted! series on YouTube for everything you need to know about the most famous furry folk in the Yukon.

This lighthearted showcase features a who's who of the Yukon animal kingdom: from the apex of all North American predators – the grizzly bear, to the biggest of the deer family – the moose, to that long–legged hunter with an appetite for playing the field – the lynx, and the list goes on. Because who are we kidding? All Yukon wildlife are straight–up superstar material.

Klondike Iconic gold rush history

Let loose

Ever since the gold rush days,
Dawson City has been a goodtime town. Today, the party goes on. The summer months bring fun in the midnight sun with the can't-miss Dawson City Music
Festival, the week-long Discovery
Day celebrations and the Yukon
Riverside Arts Festival.

In the colder months, watch as dogsled teams in the Percy DeWolfe Memorial Mail Race trace the historic route of the legendary mail carrier. Or celebrate the end of winter with Dawson City's own take on Mardi Gras, the Thaw di Gras Spring Carnival.

Flashback

At the height of the Klondike Gold Rush, Dawson City was home to some 40,000 residents - most seeking riches, some fame, and a few just happy to be caught up in the madness. Step back into those colourful days.

Walk the rustic boardwalks past heritage buildings lining dusty, unpaved streets. Watch as characters of the Klondike come to life on a Parks Canada walking tour about town or a grand tour of the regal Palace Grand Theatre. And if all that gold rush ambience isn't enough, get your fill of the region's remarkable history at the Dawson City Museum.

Reflect

Dawson City can't help but stir the soul, if past legends are any example. Step into the cabin of the fabled author of White Fang at the Jack London Museum. Stop by the cabin of Robert Service, the "bard of the Yukon", to watch a dramatic reading of one of his epic poems.

Then pick up a walking guide at the Dawson City Visitor Information Centre and take a stroll through time in the town's old cemeteries. Read the inscriptions to catch a glimpse of the diverse cast of characters who once called this singular place home.

Awaken

Enjoy a journey of cultural awakenings. Starting in Carmacks, stop in at the Tagé Cho Hudän Interpretive Centre to hear stories of the Little Salmon/Carmacks First Nation. Further up the road, visit Big Jonathan House Heritage Centre in the riverside hamlet of Pelly Crossing. See creations by local artists from the Selkirk First Nation and take home an uncommon souvenir.

Once in Dawson City, discover the history and culture of the First Peoples of the Klondike, the Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in, at the waterfront Dänojà Zho Cultural Centre.

Cruise

Before there was a Dawson City, the Hän people lived and thrived in this place. Take a two-hour river tour with Fishwheel Charters to get a window into this rich Indigenous heritage. Pass by the scenic Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in village of Moosehide and learn the lengths to which Chief Isaac went to preserve the traditions of his people at the height of the Klondike Gold Rush.

Take a tour of the S.S. Keno National Historic Site with a Parks Canada interpreter. While this boat no longer floats, it still has many stories to tell.

Historic buildings of Dawson City

Walk the unpaved streets of history with your camera fully charged. Each building has a story to tell and a charm all its own, each one somehow more photogenic than the last.

STROLL THE STREETS

Dawson City is best experienced on foot, so grab a latte from a local bakery and wander the boardwalks and dusty streets.

Dawson City streetscape H.G. Pfa

CATCH THE FEVER

Pan for gold at Free Claim #6. Then tour Dawson City's engineering wonder Dredge No. 4 National Historic Site.

SATISFY YOUR APPETITE

In a town chock full of fresh options, choose from Greek, wood-fired bbq, fish and chips,
ice cream and more.

HIT THE TOWN

Kick off the evening with the can–can dancers at Diamond Tooth Gerties before wending your way to the Midnight Dome to survey the Klondike from on high.

JOIN THE CLUB

Cap off the night with a cocktail with a toe-infused twist. Admittance to the Sourtoe Cocktail Club awaits at The Downtown, a Coast Hotel.

Northern & Arctic Where the sun never sets

Journey

Calling true adventurers! Follow the winding Dempster Highway, the only road in Canada to cross the Arctic Circle. Along the way, pay your respects at the Lost Patrol Gravesite in Fort McPherson, NWT, where the men of the ill-fated Northwest Mounted Police patrol of the early 1900s were laid to rest. The search was led by Corporal W.J.D. Dempster, for whom the highway is named.

Then venture on, all the way to the Arctic Ocean on the newly built Inuvik–Tuktoyaktuk Highway.

Fly

Did Crow, Yukon's only community above the Arctic Circle and the only one with no road access. You'll need to plan ahead for your stay. Fewer than 300 people live in Old Crow and services and accommodations are limited.

Once here, take your time. Pick up an Old Crow Walking Tour guidebook and explore. Visit the John Tizya Centre to learn about the traditions and ancient wisdom of those who've inhabited the area for millennia. To help guide your far-north adventures, book an all-inclusive tour with Josie's

Celebrate

The welcome is warm in Old Crow. Immerse yourself in this close-knit village of the Vuntut Gwitchin First Nation. If your timing is right, you may be invited to a gathering. By all means, join in!

Community celebrations can include traditional music, dancing and feasts of wild game and fish. In spring, Caribou Days celebrate the return of the Porcupine caribou herd to their calving grounds. Have a go at jigging or a caribou–skinning contest. This chance won't come again.

Raft

For adventure at its wildest, raft the remote Firth River through the heart of Ivvavik National Park. This fly-in, fly-out multi-day expedition takes paddlers of all levels past the British Mountains, all the way to the Beaufort Sea.

Float through remote river valleys, flanked by rolling arctic tundra. Visit Inuvialuit cultural sites. Hike the lands of the Porcupine caribou herd. Race through furious Class III rapids. In other words, get set for the adventure of a lifetime.

Be awed

Often called Canada's Patagonia, Tombstone Territorial Park is a hiker's paradise and a photographer's dream. Jagged mountain peaks, permafrost landforms, abundant wildlife and vibrant wildflowers all make for some mighty mesmerizing viewing. The park is a legacy of the Tr'ondëk Hwëch'in Land Claim Agreement and lies entirely within their Traditional Territory.

Make the Tombstone Interpretive Centre your first point of call for trail maps and conditions. Swaths of colour paint the hills in early fall, making it the best time to capture the park at its peak.

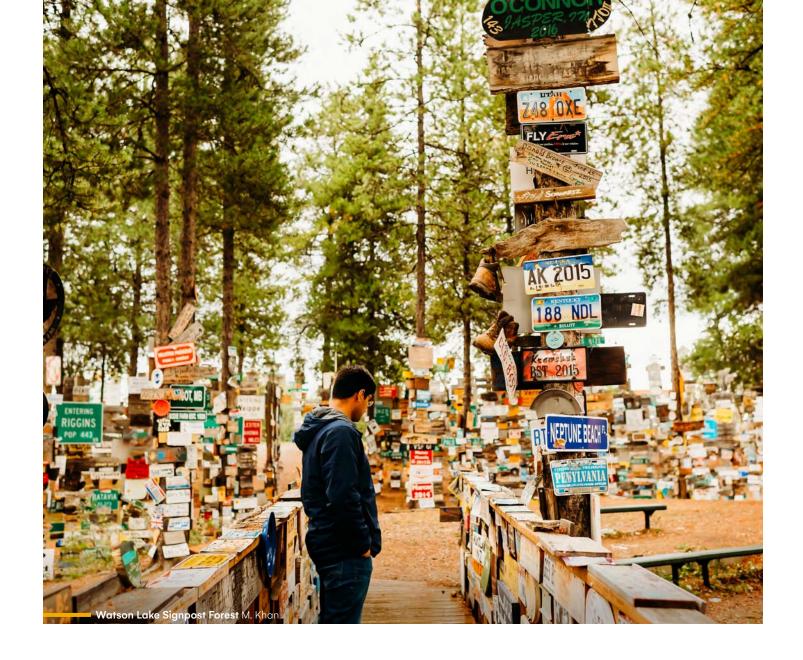

Relish the wide-open spaces of this iconic route steeped in history, and tick off this bucket-list drive.

Watson Lake Signpost Forest

Take a trip around the world without leaving Watson Lake. You'll find more than 80,000 signs tacked on to towering posts in this miniature maze. The forest started "growing" in 1942 when a homesick American soldier, one of 16,000 recruited to build the highway, erected an homage to his own hometown in Illinois.

2. Teslin

Cross the Nisutlin Bay Bridge, the longest bridge on the Alaska Highway, and take in the beautiful views offered up by this lakeside community. Plan a guided boat trip to the Nisutlin Delta National Refuge, a major waterfowl staging area near Teslin.

3. Whitehorse

Reserve a couple days to enjoy all the capital city has to offer. Watch a show at the Yukon Arts Centre, take in the classic Main Street ambience, and explore the area's five regional parks. Culture and history buffs, don't miss the Kwanlin Dün Cultural Centre, the Yukon Transportation Museum or the Yukon Beringia Interpretive Centre.

4. Haines Junction

This little town is your base camp for wilderness adventure. Treat your taste buds at the always-hopping

Village Bakery. Then tour the fascinating Da Kų Cultural Centre and learn the ancient significance of the land. Ready to explore? Get your maps and trail information right next door at the Kluane National Park and Reserve Visitor Centre and the Haines Junction Visitor Information Centre.

5. Fishing

So many lakes, so take your time. Pick from popular fishing spots like Kathleen, Mush, Bates and St. Elias lakes. Stop at Destruction Bay for great access to Kluane Lake. But before you drop your line, note that a special fishing licence is needed for Kluane National Park and Reserve.

1. Tasty treasures

We'll let you in on a Yukon secret. Not all treasures here are gold. Coffee break at Braeburn Lodge and take a bite (or twenty) out of the best (and biggest) cinnamon buns in the world. For lunch, stop for a hearty burger and a shake as creamy as they come at the riverside Coal Mine Campground and Canteen in Carmacks.

2. The goldfields

Explore the 1.5-km interpretive trail at the Discovery Claim National Historic Site near Dawson City. Find yourself amazed at how large-scale mechanized mining worked at Dredge No. 4 National Historic Site. Try your own hand at gold mining at Free Claim #6. Then gain the Indigenous perspective on the gold rush era with a tour of the Hammerstone Gallery at the Dänojà Zho Cultural Centre.

3. Top of the World Highway

The name says it all. Take the free George Black Ferry across the Yukon River at Dawson City onto a road atop a ridgeline, with views that go on forever. For an extra dose of spectacular, make the drive in early September when the landscape is ablaze in fall colour.

4. Kluane Lake

It's a jaw-drop kind of beauty from the rocky beaches of the largest lake in the Yukon. Check at the

Thechal Dhal Visitor Centre

for local hikes and backcountry permits. In the spring and fall, scan the rocky cliffs for frequently seen Dall sheep.

5. Ruins of Silver City

A short detour from Kluane Lake, the ruins of Yukon's largest ghost town are a crumbling reminder of Yukon's fickle, frontier past. The former trading post, roadhouse and Northwest Mounted Police barracks make for some great photo opportunities.

This truly memorable driving adventure invites you to slow down, take it all in, and prepare to be wowed on all sides.

1. Dawson City

In the home of the Klondike, past and present collide in eclectic wonder. Local living characters live side by side with a rollicking past. False-front buildings and wooden boardwalks take you back in time. And fine dining and modern-day fun are served up daily.

2. Tombstone Territorial Park

The area's Hän name, Ddhäl Ch'è Cha Nän, means "ragged mountain land". Its subarctic peaks and valleys offer outstanding hiking and endless scenic vistas. Stop at the Tombstone Interpretive Centre for the latest on wildlife sightings and trail conditions.

3. Take a hike

The Tombstones are known as the "Patagonia of the North", and hiking doesn't get any better than here. Lace up the boots and try the popular Goldensides Trail for an easy 1.5-hour walk with photo-worthy views. Or try the more challenging but equally popular Grizzly Ridge Trail. An hour in you'll be rewarded with a view of Mount Monolith at the end of Grizzly Valley.

4. The Arctic Circle

When you reach latitude 66° 33' (otherwise known as the Arctic Circle), it's time to pose for the proof-you-did-it photo. Absorb the moment while you savour the sweeping views of the Richardson Mountains.

5. The Arctic Ocean

For road trippers wanting to journey all the way north, this one's for you. Built in 2017, the Inuvik-Tuktoyaktuk Highway is the first all-season road to reach the polar shores of North America. While in Tuktoyaktuk, take in Pingo Canadian Landmark, a natural wonder to behold.

A spectacular mountain route takes travellers on a grand tour through picturesque Yukon towns and alpine passes to Southeast Alaska.

1. Scenic stops

With views aplenty, the photo opps are many. Take a selfie with Emerald Lake, then switch the camera to landscape-mode to capture Bove Island. Wind through magnificent alpine scenery and over the White Pass before descending into Skagway, AK.

2. The White Pass & Yukon Route railroad

Don't miss your chance to ride "The Scenic Railway of the World" on its legendary route. Your vintage passenger car will retrace the prospectors' original journey through panoramas of mountains, glaciers, gorges and waterfalls. Choose a tour option leaving from Carcross or Skagway, AK.

3. Ocean breezes

Watch for marine life from the sea-sprayed deck as you ferry from stunning Skagway, AK-a fun-filled and well-preserved gold rush town-to the picturesque fishing village of Haines, AK. As you re-enter Canada, pass through the spectacular alpine heights of the Haines Pass.

4. Kluane National Park and Reserve

For outdoor lovers, this park will have you spellbound for a day, or three. Stop by the Kluane National Park and Reserve Visitor Centre and choose your own adventure in this UNESCO World Heritage Site. For the ultimate I-can't-believe-how-awesome-that-was experience, take a flightseeing tour to see Mount Logan, Canada's highest peak.

Southern Tagish Lake M. Rudlof

Explore a network of deep blue lakes backed by coastal mountains and small villages, all just a short drive from Whitehorse.

1. Mount Lorne

Just a short drive from Whitehorse, this hamlet is happening. Meet the locals at a farmers' market. Take a drive down the gorgeous Annie Lake Road and paddle on peaceful Annie Lake. Hike Mount Lorne for a view from the top. And for an "only-in-the-Yukon" experience, don't miss the Annie Lake Wilderness Golf Course – emphasis on the wilderness.

2. Carcross

Walk through a cluster of historic structures in the heart of town, including some of the Yukon's oldest buildings. Picnic at the S.S. Tutshi multiuse sternwheeler interpretation memorial on the banks of the Nares River. Then drive five minutes north to Wild Adventure Yukon for some all-season dog cart rides, gold panning and family-friendly Yukon fun.

3. Water play

For boaters, birdwatchers and beachgoers, take some time to enjoy the surrounding lakes and rivers. Bennett Beach in Carcross routinely makes it onto Canada's best beaches lists. Launch your boat at the Tagish Bridge, then head down Six Mile River to Tagish Lake or north to Marsh Lake. Either way, it's classic Yukon vistas as far as the eye can see.

4. Glacier flights

Upgrade your view and take to the skies. From Whitehorse or Atlin, BC, grab a front-row seat and witness the grandeur of this breathtaking region. You'll feel oh-so-small as you near the Llewellyn Glacier at the south end of Atlin Lake. For some extra wow factor, ask your pilot if a glacier landing is possible.

The historic Silver Trail offers an off-thebeaten-track experience in a landscape of placid lakes, rivers and mountain ranges.

1. Culture in community

Stretch your legs along the scenic riverfront boardwalk in Carmacks. Then stop in at the Tagé Cho Hudän Interpretive Centre to see the world's only mammoth snare diorama. Take another breather at the quiet community of Pelly Crossing, home of the Selkirk First Nation. Drop by Big Jonathan House Heritage Centre and discover unique artifacts and local artwork.

2. Devil's Elbow and Big Island Habitat Protection Areas

Located along the Stewart River near Mayo are two protected prime moose calving grounds, containing numerous trails. Hike a short 750-metre elevation trail to a viewpoint overlooking the Stewart River wetland – part of the Traditional Territory of the First Nation of Nacho Nyak Dun.

3. Mayo

Learn the history of the silver miners and the First Nation of Nacho Nyak Dun at the offbeat and awesome Binet House Museum. Stroll the riverfront along the Prince of Wales Trail, part of the Trans Canada Trail that stretches across the country. Then go for a deep dive (literally) at the popular recreation spot of Five Mile Lake, one of the Yukon's warmest lakes.

4. Keno City

The authentic northern mining vibe is still in the air in this tiny hamlet. Pick up the Keno Walking Tour guidebook at the Alpine Interpretive Centre and explore this quaint and quirky community. (Did I just pass a house made of beer bottles?) Break up your tour at the Keno City Snack Bar, a great place to grab a homemade pizza from a homegrown chef.

Traversing one of the Yukon's least-populated regions, the Campbell Canol wilderness drive offers a quiet, more-remote experience with rewarding fishing and wildlife viewing.

1. Wildlife galore

On less-travelled roads such as these, every turn is an opportunity to spot wildlife. Take it slow on the Robert Campbell Highway and be on high alert for signs of moose, bears, Fannin sheep and caribou.

2. Canol Suspension Bridge

Walk the thousand-foot length of this historic footbridge over the Pelly River in Ross River. Take note of the concrete anchor blocks, painted by students of the Ross River school with their own and traditional Kaska First Nation designs.

3. Dena Cho Trail

This ancient trail of the Kaska people leads from Faro to the community of Ross River for an accessible multiday wilderness hike through otherwise untracked territory. Unique stone sculptures by local artists mark the start and finish of the route.

4. Faro

Stay in this community of creatives and miners, where even the resident Fannin sheep have their own following. For those ready to soak up the great outdoors, start at the Campbell Region Interpretive Centre for fresh tips on everything from golfing to hiking to casting a line.

5. South Canol Road

You have to take the rough with the smooth on this route. But if your suspension is up for it, the rewards are pretty wild. Gas up, check your spare, then spend a couple of days camping and embracing the area's peaceful magic. Fish at Quiet Lake, or paddle across subalpine Rose and Lapie lakes. Keep your speed down and your camera handy – this is moose country.
